This Is PRINCETON

OFF-YEAR ROUGH ON INS.
Majority Parties Lose. The political tradition that frequently finds voters issuing a forthright rebuff to incumbent administrations in an off-year held true to form at Tuesday's elections.

In Princeton Borough, Democrats earned an unanticipated split in the Council race when they elected Dr. Joseph R. Strayer to one of the seats.
Across the State, the $750 million bond issue which Gov.
Hughes had made his personal crusade was soundly defeated, and Republicans gained control of the State Assembly for the first time in six years while adding to their margin in the Senate.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson was re-elected but his margin of 385 votes over Democrat
Minor C. Morgan Jr. was almost 200 less than when he was first named to office two years ago in Princeton Township, the Democrats lost again — but they cut into the GOP victory margin by a full 50%. The Republican margin there was something over 300 votes, in contrast to 750 a year ago, and Democrats felt that had not Republicans turned out in large numbers to vote against the big bond issue, the result might have been even closer.

Dr. Strayer, a member of the University's Department of History, became the first member of his party to earn a council seat since 1958 when he won by 30 votes. He polled 1466, defeating Republican A.
Jerome Horton despite the fact that the latter carried five of eight districts.

Dr. Strayer carried the second and fourth by narrow margins, but ran up a plurality of 132 over Mr. Horton in the sixth. Dr. Ellwood E. Godfrey, Council president, drew 1552.
Joseph R. Baldeagle, the other Democrat, trailed Mr. Horton by only two votes — 1436 to 1434.

Patterson Tops Ticket. Mayor Patterson received 1724 votes to 1339 for Mr. Morgan, also losing the second, fourth and sixth. However, he carried the bell-weather first (which normally signifies a Democratic victory by swinging into that party's column) by 51 votes and rolled up large margins in the third, fifth and eighth.

Mr. Morgan's campaign during pre-election weeks for public housing for the elderly, a highly-controversial issue in the eastern sector of the Borough, cost him votes. He ran behind his ticket in the third and fourth districts, the area near North Harrison where the housing project will be built should it shed the red tape in which it has long been entwined.

Foster High Man. Walter B.
Foster, who has served the Township as tax collector, was named to Township Committee with 2164 votes. Russell Mount, former West Windsor Township Committeeman, now living in Princeton, was success-

Tax collectors in both Borough and Township will continue to be Republicans. In the Borough, incumbent Theodore Stratton defeated Mrs. Marie
Coan, 1546 to 1365. David S.
Thompson won the township race from Mrs. Marlene Merz-berg, 2234 to 1520. Edward G.
Warren, Borough assessor, was returned to office when he drew 1677 votes to 1202 for Democrat Nicholas Bartolino.

Balloting in both municipalities was about as in other off-years, although this time the Borough was slightly ahead of the Township in the turnout.
Some 66% of Borough registered voters went to the polls, compared to 60% in the Town-

of his political future on ability to win approval for the $750 million dollar bond issue. Gov. Hughes is looking beyond next year's presidential election in 1965 — when his own term expires. Republicans united almost solidly against his plan to borrow from Turnpike tolls starting in 1972, and the referendum went down to defeat by margins of 100,000 votes.

Both Princeton Borough and Township were solidly against the proposal, the Borough lining up on the negative side by about 2 to 1 and the Township thrashing it even more soundly with a margin that neared 3 to 1.

Gov. Hughes said Wednesday that a broad base tax appears to be the alternative to the beaten bond issue, unless a reasonable bipartisan proposal of another nature is forthcoming. It is generally agreed that an income tax is preferable to a sales tax inasmuch as it reflects more accurately each individual's ability to pay and has far less injustice value.

New Jersey today is one of only three states in the union without either a sales or an income tax, and its catch-like fiscal policies have led it to the brink of financial irresponsibility. Tuesday's defeat of the bond issue, no matter how valid some of the programs it would have undertaken, was a triumph for the backers of hard money.

Gov. Hughes absorbed a personal defeat on another front in Burlington County, where he had split the Democrats deeply by backing his brother-in-law, Edward Hulise, in a bitter primary fight last April. Republicans took advantage of the continuing rift to win a State Senate seat for the first time in five years.

County Democrats Win. In Mercer County, the ins remained in, although Republican freeholder candidate Regina Meredith continued to cut into the Democrats' majority that once ran to 10,000 votes. In her fourth bid for a place on the county governing body, she came within 1065 votes of Democratic incumbent Joseph Graeco. Freeholder Thomas Rhines was high man in the four-way race for two seats with 42,255.

Princetonian Edward Sweeney was re-elected to the Assembly for another two-year term with 43,755 votes, Princeton attorney Charles Farrington topping the balloting in this race with 45,796. The third Democratic incumbent, Vincent Panaro, also won, but again, the ins were shaken up the margin for Assembly was the lowest since 1949.

Democrats won the race for sheriff, Joseph Holland defeating Paul Pettit with ease, and took the uncontested races for the detest office of county runner. One of those who will hold this title as a result of Tuesday's voting is Melvin Tummin, a University faculty member.

Other Referendums Passed. Four other state-wide questions on the ballot gained voter approval by large margins, ranging upwards from 3 to 1. Both Princeton Borough and Township contributed to these results in approximately similar fashion.

One question provides for continued assessment of farmland at agricultural values so long as the land is under cultivation. Two others eliminate the present assessment exemptions of $800 and $500, respectively, for those over 65 and Armed Forces veterans, replacing them with $80 and $50 reductions in their personal property bills.

The fourth referendum eases residence requirements for voting. All four will require amendments to the State Constitution.

BOROUGH GIVEN GRANT For School Study. How can the new Borough elementary school be converted to a junior high school, if the need should arise?

An $8,000 grant to study this question has been given to the Borough Board of Education by Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc., a division of the Ford Foundation.

In making the announcement this week, Graham Rohrer, president of the board, said, "While our first concern is for a new school directed without compromise to the present, urgent needs of the Borough, good judgment dictates that planning for such a facility must fully consider its possible future role in the event of school or district reorganization."

In other words, if Borough and Township systems merged in some fashion, how could the new school be altered so that it would serve both municipalities as a junior high?

Back to the Drawing Board. The $8,000 will be used for architectural studies which will be carried out by Ernest J. Kump Associates, architects for the new school. According to Dr. Chester R. Stroup, Borough superintendent of schools, an associate in the Kump firm will join Dale Sprankle, who has been in charge of design for the new school, and will be assigned to the job of deciding how the structure could be converted.

For example, additional rooms for science would be a necessity if the school were to serve only junior high students, and architects can plan now for the gas mains and wiring that would be needed for expanded laboratory facilities.

Also, more industrial arts workshops and domestic science rooms would have to be installed, and architects can decide now how these rooms could evolve from the standard Grade Three classroom.

Architects will develop their conversion plans from specifications worked out by Dr. Stroup; Mrs. Dorothy Lummis, principal of Nassau Street School; Howard Waxwood, principal of Witherspoon School, teachers, department heads in each school and Board members.

In addition, Dr. Stroup said that the New Jersey School Development Council at Rutgers will include Princeton teachers in its junior high study program now in progress.

Plans for the new school already have several junior high features, Dr. Stroup pointed out. The gymnasium, for example, is a standard junior high gym. Cafeteria and kitchen have been designed to serve a complete population of older boys and girls, if necessary.

Negotiations with Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc. have been in progress since mid-summer.

Plan for Flexibility "Flexibility in school planning is the big thing, all over the country,"

Round-Up

Mischief night last Wednesday was reported by both Borough and Township police as quiet—probably because of the ample warnings issued in advance. Twelve call in the Borough.

- One BB hole in window at 100 Nassau Street.
- Paint sprayed on Woolworth and Hobby Shop windows.
- Leaf pile set afire.

- Directional sign knocked down at Stanley and Erdman.
- Street light broken on Franklin near Princeton Hospital.
- Electrical fixtures damaged outside R F Johnson shop on Tulane.
- Some egg-throwing, fire-crackling, much soaping.

- Car in Tulane Street lot sprayed with paint.
- 25 mph sign on Cedar Lane changed with paint to "85 mph."
- "Slow" sign on Linden Lane painted over.
- Bread and fruit thrown at door in Stanworth.
- Glass pane broken in back door of 372 Nassau.

Township reports only three leaf fires and the usual soaping. Two new probationary patrolmen in Princeton Township David T. Potts, 56 Fisher Avenue, and David G. Wilbur, 37 Broadripple Drive. Eleven candidates qualified and Township took the top two available, will keep the list of the other nine to choose from next time they need a patrolman. Appointment of Mr. Potts and Mr. Wilbur becomes effective November 15.

At approaches to that obstacle-course bridge in Kingston, new and larger warning signs will be installed by the state. Also, the state says the bridge "may" be replaced within the next five years. Meanwhile, the highway department is in the process of installing 29 mercury-vapor lights there to take the place of the 27 incandescent ones. New lights will cost the Township $19 more for electricity each month.

The need for overnight parking places in Princeton is evidently far from acute. Permits to park in either the Mercer Street-University Place lot or the Park Street lot have been on sale in the office of Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney since just after Labor Day, but only eight permits out of the 31 available have been issued.

The meeting of mayor and borough council next Tuesday will be held in the second floor auditorium of the Engineering Building on Witherspoon Street instead of in Borough Hall. Change of location is to accommodate crowd expected to attend the next round of the LaPlace-Housing Authority tussle.

October was the driest in Weather Bureau history here and the third driest month on record. Just 16 inches of rain fell in June, 1949, no more than 63 was recorded, while the all-time low of .02 was set in September, 1941. Normal for October is 3.22 and the year's deficiency is now over a foot. The first two days of November helped somewhat, with almost an inch falling until the skies cleared around noon Saturday.

Day after Florida waves subsided with the departure of Hurricane Genny, a submarine launched a new Polaris A-3 missile off Cape Canaveral. Because Princeton-based scientific knowledge had gone into the missile's manufacture, TOWN TOPICS had managing editor Douglas E. Stuart on

A production of "Alice in Wonderland" and a rising young folk singer who is likely to sell McCarter out in advance are among the many coming attractions reported in News of the Theatres (pages 5 and 6). Tuesday night's program of Elizabethan Music is reviewed on page 18.

Possible conversion of the proposed borough elementary school into a junior high school, should merger of the two Princeton districts occur, will be studied through an $8,000 grant received by the Borough Board of Education. This is among the principal stories in Topics of the Town, which also brings word of a raid conducted by police on a trio charged with participating in the "numbers racket," plans for community-wide distribution of oral polio vaccine, and a series of automobile accidents during the past week.

What chance does Princeton's football team have of going through the 1963 season unbeaten? Sports fans give their answers in Question of the Week (page 21), while the sports section (pages 27-31) takes a look at the upcoming game with Harvard, the victory over Brown and Princeton High School's fine comeback to tie Somerville.

News Of The THEATRES

"SHE STOOPS" TONIGHT
Goldsmith to Open. For its third autumn offering, McCart will leave behind the shadows of Ibsen and O'Neill and step out into the light with Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

The classic comedy will open this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Donald Moffat and will be played again this Friday and Saturday, and next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Except for this Thursday, curtain times will be 8:30.

Familiar faces will be in the cast. Mr. Moffat himself will be seen as the young Charles Marlow ("a dashing young man when in the presence of young men or barmaids") and Anne Murray (who is Mrs. Moffat in real life) will leave Hedda Gabler in order to portray Mrs. Harcastle.

Karl Light, who knows the McCart stage as well as his own house, will be Mr. Harcastle. Christine Pickles, who played the tormented Duchess of Malfi some seasons ago, will be Miss Kate Harcastle. Others in the cast will be Edward Grover, Edward Zang, Grenville Cuyler and Angela Thornton.

For those who collect theatrical history, it might be pointed out that Goldsmith wrote "She Stoops to Conquer" as a "laughing comedy" to protest the prevailing "sentimental comedy" of his day. Dr. Samuel Johnson said of "She Stoops to Conquer": "I know of no comedy for many years that has answered so much the general end of comedy: making an audience merry."

OLD STEPS AND NEW

At Ballet. The classic "Les Sylphides" will join a frothy new ballet called "Con Amore" on the program of the National Ballet when the company appears in McCart Theatre Sunday at 3.

Sonia Arova, prima ballerina of the company, will dance "Sylvia—Pas de Deux," choreographed by George Balanchine, who was one of the guiding hands in the development of the National Ballet. In "Sylvia," Arova will be supported by the ballet's premier danseur, Stevan Grebel.

The program will also include "Hommage au Ballet," a work in the classical tradition set to Gounod's Second Symphony.

"Con Amore" is an amusing spoof, choreographed by Lew Christensen to music by Rossini. Roni Mahler and Roderick Drew will star. In the "Sylphides," Arova, Mahler and Grebel will have the leading roles, supported by the Corps de Ballet.

Andrea Vodehnal and Drew will be joined by the ballet corps in the "Hommage au Ballet," whose choreographer is Frederic Franklin.

Following the performance the Board of Directors of the Princeton Ballet Society will hold a reception at the studio for the cast and out-of-town guests.

26 ARE CHOSEN

To Form Ballet Company. The new Princeton Regional Ballet took its first steps Sunday with the formation of 26 dancers into Senior and Junior Companies.

The Regional Ballet was formed to bring together in a single performing company the best dancers in the central New Jersey area. The audition took the form of a class, conducted by Fred Dameli of the Garden State Ballet, Newark. Judges were E. Virginia Williams of the Boston Ballet, Phyllis Marmein of the Selects Civic Ballet and Alexi Ramov of the Scranton Ballet Guild.

Junior candidates were given a 90-minute class, testing their abilities in simple and advanced techniques. Senior candidates received a two-hour examination, finishing with half an hour of pointe work.

Dancers chosen came from the Princeton Ballet Society's School of Ballet, the Aparri School, the Granzow Dancing Academy, the Kiernan School of Ballet, the Mary Papa Dance Studio and the Irene Parker Dance Studio, all of Trenton, the Joan Holmes Studio and Mona's Dance Studio, both of Mount Holly.

Seniors, Juniors. The Senior company will include Greta Ford, Kathleen Hult, Lauren Lauck, Margot Tobalsky, Diane Byer, Joyce Slahl, Kathie Palazey, Jeanne Solan, Christine Cope, Penny Guerard, Ann Henz, JoAnn Kannon, Isobel Stewart and Douglas Dunn. Provisional members are Penelope Bush, Gale Sessions and Debbie Smith.

The Junior company will consist of Linda Harl, Rosemary LaPlace, Dorothy Pettit, Lisette Stoltzfus, Phyllis Papa, Bebbins Rahmeyer, Karen Thurm, Sally Yard, Isabel Bartello, Meryl Claman, Brook Jones and Eva Maxwell.

40 YEARS A PUPPETEER

That's Obratsov. In 1923, young Sergei Obratsov was asked to create a Punch and Judy show for the traditional Moscow Lenten Festival, and although the show flopped, the puppeteer was on his way. His repertoire and his skill grew to such an extent that in 1934, he was asked by the Soviet Government to form the Russian puppet theatre that now bears his name.

YOUR HAIR LOOKS FINE, but all those beads don't help: A scene from Federico Fellini's "8½," now showing at the Garden.

Obratsov alone, without his company, will come to McCarter Theatre this Saturday at 2:30 for a single performance. The one-man show will be appreciated with delight by older children, junior high and up, but McCarter urges parents of grade-school children to leave them at home.

SRO FOR DYLAN?

Looks That Way, Bob Dylan, identified by the New York "Times" as "an angry young man with a guitar, an incredibly gifted and courageous writer," may well be a sell-out in Princeton. McCarter Theatre, which has booked the young composer-singer for a Mid-night Special on Saturday, November 16, expects to put out the stage seats for Dylan's coming.

The 22-year-old Dylan has been called "the most important folk singer in America today" by Peter, Paul and Mary, who made of Dylan's "Blowin' in the Wind" the biggest hit in the folk-music world at the moment.

There are still tickets available at the McCarter box-office, with reservations accepted by telephone.

HERE'S "ALICE"

In Time for Turkey. As a special Thanksgiving holiday treat for its younger customers (to make amends for having urged them away from Obratsov's puppets), McCarter will present "Alice in Wonderland" on Friday, November 29, at 3:30 and Saturday, November 30 at 11 a.m.

Based on Eva LeGallienne and Florida Friebus' stage adaptation, this "Alice" will be acted by the McCarter resident company and directed by Leslie McAneny. The play is being given in cooperation with the PTA of Borough and Township schools, and will be presented at the same price scale as the regular PTA Children's Entertainment Series. Tickets, at 60 cents to $1.50, are now on sale at McCarter's box-office.

"KIND LADY" COMING

Theatre Intime. The contemporary melodrama, "Kind Lady," will be given in Murray Theatre by members of the University's Theatre Intime next Friday and Saturday, November 15 and 16, and again November 22 and 23 at 8:30 p.m.

The cast will include Val Storey, Joyce Woodruff, Judy Schenk, Lena Olsson, Mary Learmonth, Carole Schwartz, George Blanchard, Michael Kober, Henry Blackiston, Charles Moran and James Bierman. Stater Crawford, vice-president of Theatre Intime, will direct. "Kind Lady" is in the Hitchcock tradition, full of suspense, sadism and macabre humor.

"SEVEN DEADLY SINS"

Foreign Film Booked. In 1952, seven prominent directors of French and Italian films combined their talents in seven short pieces depicting the classic seven deadly sins. Their film, "Les Sept Peches Capitaux," will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday at McCarter by the Princeton University French Club.

The two-hour movie is adult fare, with ironic overtones.

It is topped by an unexpected epilogue introducing an eighth deadly sin. Dialogue is French and Italian, with English sub-titles.

Tickets are 50 cents for Princeton University students and personnel; 75 cents for all others.

MOLIERE ON FILM

At Lambertville Theatre. One of Moliere's comedies, "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," will be shown at the New Strand theatre in Lambertville next Wednesday. Performances will start at 7 and 9 p.m.

Filmed in color, this production by La Comedie Francaise marks the first time the acting troupe, organized almost 300 years ago by Moliere himself, has appeared in films as a unit. "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" (The Would-Be Gentleman) has been performed by the company more than 2,000 times.

The film dialogue is French with English subtitles translated under the supervision of Jean Meyer, director of La Comedie Francaise.

PRINCE

Twilight of Honor (now showing) is perhaps a perfunctory and obvious way to present Richard Chamberlain as something other than Dr. Kildare. The change is small: from a handsome, serious young medic to a handsome, serious young legal eagle.

The story should be like one you've heard before since the general plot has been around just about as long as there's been any drama anywhere. It's the actor-proof, audience-proof lawyer-defending-the innocent theme.

The golden-haired, ox-eyed Chamberlain is the young lawyer (aided and abetted by elderly counsel Claude Rains, clearly the bar association's equivalent of Dr. Gillespie) who takes on the case of an innocent man accused of killing a Mr. Big in a small New Mexican town. The flick is full of the movie standard triple A's: action, adultery and a guish.

Chamberlain's sizeable claque will be happy to know that Dr. Kildare has made the jump from interne to attorney without any strain. Or, for that matter, without any other evident sign of emotion.

GARDEN

8½ (through Tues.) is not an enigmatic movie title as you might think. It merely signifies that Italian movie director Federico Fellini, factor of "La Strada" and "La Dolce Vita," has directed seven complete movies and segments of three others. It might have been more accurately called "8.457," but Fellini, being more artist than mathematician, chose to go with the "8½" approximation.

Clear? If not, let's get on to the next question anyway. Is it a good movie? If you like Fellini, yes; if you don't, no. "8½" is a wildly pictorial, do-it-yourself psychoanalysis, a kind of LSD-induced pleasure cruise down Fellini's stream of subconsciousness from ego to id and return.

Fellini admits: "All I can say is that it did me good to make it. It was a liberating experience." Most psychoanalysis is, but its benefit is usually...

IT'S NEW To Us

NOW, ABOUT THE SNOW... "Ski" is here. Have your ticket in your hand when you enter The Ski, newly opened at 20 Nassau, because once you see the gear in this shop, you'll want to take off for the best slopes the world has to offer.

You'll notice right away that the display racks have been painted snow white and curved at the bottom to lie against the moss green rug like a curving, downhill ski trail. The shop is narrow and very deep, with a special section upstairs at the back for small skiers. (The younger you learn, the better.)

Up front, there is a forest of skis for all ages and sizes ("from tots to the teetering," says the manager). Wood, metal or Epoxi varieties are available, priced from a wooden pair at $24.50 straight on up to the top of the mountain. The Ski is an authorized dealer for the Head Ski — one of the best metal skis you can buy. Pick up a pair for a beginner, or the Head "Master" at $119.50 or a competitive racing ski for $142.50.

Other brands? Try the Kneissl, the Kastle or the Hart, and pair them with stainless steel or aluminum poles from $6 to $24.50. (As you can see, The Ski is a true ski shop, not just a sporting goods store with a ski department.)

Boots are for the very youngest, in rubber at $7.95, up to Henke's buckle boots for $85, and plenty of middle ones in between, bearing such names as Nordica and Saska as well as Henke. Bindings from Marker, Nevada, Cubco, Geze and Tyrolia can be mounted for you on the skis you choose. The Ski also has a complete repair shop (but no surgical dressings) and rental facilities to take care of people who aren't quite sure they want to buy just yet.

Now, what to wear? As you know, you can wear ski clothes anywhere and some of the most devastating ski clothes never get out of the lodge at all.

We liked a row of black jackets by Dior, one in satin with a hood banded in "fox" and another in moiré with an offside closing. Tightly quilted nylon with a mandarin collar has been used for another, and nylon satin with black velvet ribbon trim for a companion. But not all is shadow. Dior also has a jacket in the finest white poplin with bursting flowers in Kelly, shocking and turquoise, and solid fashion pastels. All filled with polyester fibre for light-weight warmth.

In a more modest price range than the Dior, you'll find a black and white peasant print poplin, gay as a romp in the snow, and a natural "linen" with big flowers in a simulated erowel pattern. (All these are reversible, by the way.)

McGregor, new to ski wear, although experienced in clothing manufacture, experiments with stretch nylon and comes up with a floral print right out of Gauguin. The stretch gives the effect of slim organ pipes all across the front of the jacket. The hoods roll right into the collar and out of the way if you wish.

In the men's department,

The Ski has nylon quilted jackets with polyester lining, about as windproof as you can get. Duofold, McGregor and Pedigree are the brand names. Our favorite in the men's rack is a real sheepskin car coat from Sweden. That's all it is: just sheep. The wool is the snug inside, the leather of the sheep himself is the outside. (For women, too.)

And of course, there are sweaters. Scandinavian patterns in bold greens, blues and whites. Jaegers in olive or white. Even a dusty pink!

And just to keep you warm, whether you ski or not, the shop has a floor length coat by Dior in cherry wool with black "fox" around hem, cuffs and hood. So who skis?

LONG, LONG AGO
But Not Far Away. We took a turn into the country one fall afternoon and found ourselves right in the past. The America of long ago has been recreated in the shop that is part of the complex at Country Farms, Middlebush. You've been there for a country lunch or Sunday dinner, of course, but have you walked back to the little white country store to see what's inside?

What we describe for you may have been sold by the time you make your visit because many things are one-of-a-kind, and the inventory, so to speak, changes from day to day. But to give you an idea...

The shop is full, to begin with. A four-drawer pine chest ($85) and a Little Giant iron stove may be next to a sunny bay window full of reproductions of old glass and china.

A low, two-door pine piece, cedar chest size, is near a cupboard full of little House of Stevens preserve jars, with gooseberry, plum rum jam, cranberry chutney and Indian pudding. Hard candies and licorice sticks are in other glass jars — and there must be dozens of them — that are arranged on the old-fashioned counter.

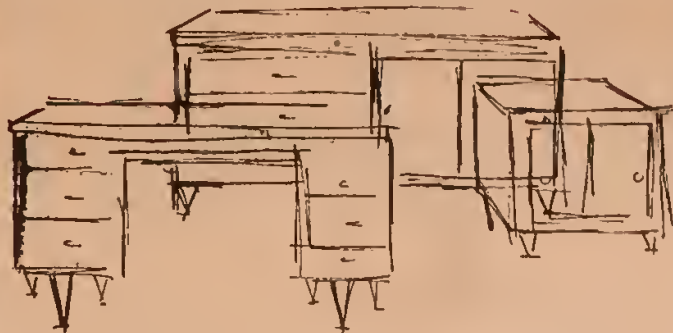

The toys were especially appealing. One old doll seems to... have a complete wardrobe of pantalettes and pinafores. An old toy stove still has its battered little pans and pots, and a very small doll (doll-house size) has kept her furniture all these years. And look at the deep lace Bertha on a doll which is obviously the BEST doll.

Above, hanging from the rafters, are old garments from a great-grandmother's trunk: a stiff-laced corset, white high-heeled shoes, a pair of lace drawers, hoops for a skirt and a little girl's dress.

Palm Springs Weekend (through Tuesday) is so new that the film is probably still in the cutting-room as this is being written. All we know about it is:

- It's a once-over-lightly documentary of Hollywood's playground, with music.

- It headlines Troy Donahue and Connie Stevens.

Turtle and Calf

Two leather handbags, as splendid as anything you'll ever own, are now on display at The English Shop in the downstairs suite reserved for the ladies.

One is dark brown sea turtle from Mexico, fashioned in a large oblong with polished brass closings and a handle. Sea turtle leather comes, not from the carapace, but from the underbelly, and it looks very much like alligator. In fact, you might like this for an alligator bag unless you examined it closely and discovered that the leather does not have the characteristic alligator scalliness. The bag is lined throughout with tawny leather.

The second bag, again a tailored oblong with carrying handle, is made of soft black unbroken calf. The hairs are short and silky smooth, but the nature of the leather means that this is a more casual and sporty bag than the turtle. It too is lined with leather. Both bags are, of course, investment pieces.

In a more sophisticated mood, The English Shop has a suit of banker's gray in two shades: president and vice-president (one richer than the other). Jacket is Chanel, light grey piped with the dark grey of the skirt. And in between all the wool suits, a surprising theatre suit of rich Thai brocade in gold and blue!

You can mix and match for days with the bright royal basketweave skirt, sleeveless knit royal slipover sweater and Chanel jacket knit on a big needle in creamy white wool. Royal grosgrain trims the jacket conventionally, but surprises you by stopping short of the neckline. A three-quarter sleeve sweater, white, has royal knit into hem and V-neck trim. All this royal comes in red with the white, too.

Suede leather, the real thing and soft as a Liberty silk scarf, has been used for a two-piece with gored skirt and sleeveless jerkin. Lady Hathaway is the designer. The colors are a vibrant mustard, and a soft, leaf brown.

On your feet! Those hand-painted Scandinavian slippers lined with lamb, or the deep brown suede moccasins with a lamb lining that curls like angel feathers all around your ankle bone.

try," Dr. Stroup said. "Many districts will face the conversion that Princeton may face some day, and so E.F.L. was naturally interested in us. They were impressed with the kindergarten-through-eighth-grade plans we already have."

The results of the study and the basic plans of the new elementary school will be nationally circulated by E.F.L. as part of their series, "Profiles of Significant Schools."

"We are particularly gratified," Mr. Rohrer said "that the excellence of our initial plans attracted the attention of this distinguished foundation to the extent that it is willing to underwrite this study."

ELECTION RESULTS

Lawrence Township: The four top candidates, two of them Democrats and two Republicans, ran a photo-finish race, with the two independent candidates trailing by a wide margin. Democrat Joseph M. Mahan, with 2,708 votes, took over the seat on the committee formerly held by Republican Philip M. McHugh, who did not run for re-election. Less than 10 votes behind Mahan was the Republican incumbent, Clifford W. Snedeker Jr., with 2,634 votes to emerge as the other victor. Democratic candidate Herman W. Hansler, like Mahan a state employee, finished third with 2,497 votes. The second Republican candidate, Harry J. Ratcliffe, drew 2,354 votes.

Independent candidate Arthur R. Wenzel, who nearly won a seat on the committee last year when he ran as a Republican, got only 1,275 votes in this year's balloting. His running mate, William H. Meagher, finished in sixth place with a total of 970 votes.

West Windsor, Republicans swept the election in West Windsor, tipping Democratic incumbent Francis J. Ward out of the township committee seat he has occupied since 1958. Hardware store owner Alvin Carson, Republican, defeated Ward by 831 votes to 614, thereby giving Republicans complete control of the township.

GOP incumbent H. Herbert Mather, unopposed for reelection as tax collector, received 1,071 votes.

Hopewell Borough, Republicans picked up all of the offices contested in Hopewell Borough. GOP incumbent Ernest H. Adler defeated Democrat Charles T. Cooper in

Prospective Buyers Eager

"There has been a new surge of interest in our Nassau and Quarry Street school buildings since passage of the bond issue referendum," commented Dr. Chester R. Stroup, Borough superintendent, this week.

The Borough Board of Education has always had plenty of suitors for its two eligible progeny, but it has been playing hard to get in the hope that a real Prince Charming will come along with a handsome dowry.

Dr. Stroup said that prospective customers have even been making detailed engineering surveys of the Nassau Street building at their own expense, a sure sign that interest is indeed at a peak.

the mayoralty race, 466 to 252.

Republican Ralph M. Lanning, incumbent, and Joseph N. Castoro defeated Democrats Ralph Ferrante and V. Frank Boyd in the contest for two vacant seats on the borough council. The voting totals: Lanning, 455; Castoro, 407; Boyd, 301; Ferrante, 227. The results gave the Hopewell Republicans a 5-1 majority on the council.

Pennington Borough, Mayor John T. Huddleston was re-elected to office by a 709-224 margin over Democratic candidate Alfred J. Schuster. Also re-elected was Tax Collector Frank J. Warren, who polled 740 votes to 191 for his Democratic opponent, Joseph F. Lamendola.

In the vote for council, both Republican candidates won. William E. Schluter got 693 votes and Frederick T. Barrett polled 672. The Democratic losers were John J. Donigan Jr., 241 votes, and Thomas McGann, 234.

Rocky Hill. In the vote for the only contested office, Republican Jack O. Nielson was elected tax collector by a 166-62 margin over his Democratic opponent, Theodore Deitzel.

Three Republicans were named to Rocky Hill council. They are: Clarence Olsen, 146 votes; Richard C. Hixon, 153; and Isabelle N. Rhodes, 90 votes, to fill out an unexpired term. They were unopposed in their bid for office.

TEA FOR THREE: Chanoyu — the ancient Japanese tea ceremony will be performed throughout the day on Saturday at the YWCA International Festival. at Festival opens at the "Y" building on Avalon Place at 7:30 p.m.

Asa S. Bushnell of Princeton, secretary of the United States Olympic Committee, has donated to the "Y" not only the flags and posters that will decorate the building during the Festival but also a valuable collection of six gold-bound souvenir books from the Olympic Games of 1952, 1956 and 1960. The books will be on display in the main hall of the "Y" during the Festival, and after the event, they will become part of the YWCA library.

After the opening ceremony on Friday evening, visitors may stroll among the booths and exhibits, examining the hand-made dolls from Agabat Jaber "Y" camp in Jordan which have been dressed in the costumes of Bethlehem, Ramallah, Jericho, Bethany and Beit Dajan, or watching a cooking expert demonstrate how to make Swedish Rosettes, or looking at the slides assembled by Mrs. Florence Rockwell for her "Gardens Around the World" program.

On Saturday, the booths and the exhibits will again be open to browsers and those who wish to buy. The traditional Japanese tea ceremony will be performed throughout the day on Saturday (on Friday evening, as well by a group of Japanese women who live in Princeton). And a Persian tea-room will offer refreshment on Friday evening and during the day Saturday.

Buy for Christmas. Articles for sale in the booths have been gathered from all over the world. The "Y" is particularly proud of the hand-carved eweche figures made by a German artist who lives in Switzerland. The "Y" will take orders from Festival patrons for other wooden figures carved by this craftsman, including folk characters or historical personages.

From 11:30 to 3 on Saturday, younger visitors may ride ponies from the Chestnut Ridge Riding Stables, or take a ride in a real pony cart. Other outdoor and indoor pastimes will be offered, too, and there will be a "balloon break" and rides in golf carts.

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Lillian Oppenheimer will give three 45-minute demonstrations of the Japanese art of origami, starting at 2 p.m. A puppet show, a hootenanny and a story-telling hour will divert the young after they have watched origami.

The Winner! From 11 to 12:30 on Saturday, Raymond E. Halacy will do pastel portraits, and at 4:30 the "Y" will announce the winner of a free portrait by Mr. Halacy. The winner will be the one who has guessed correctly the number of peanuts in the bottle on display in the "Y" lobby. The International Festival will close with an International Tea which will be served on Sunday from 4 to 6 at the "Y," with entertainment by Claire Plowman, Miss Plowman, a student at Westminster Choir College, will sing several folk-songs from various countries.

ACCIDENT REPORT

Two Girls Are Injured. A 12-year-old girl had both her legs fractured and another girl suffered contusions last week when they were struck while crossing streets in separate accidents in the Borough. A third pedestrian, a boy, was brushed by a passing car.

Thrown 53 feet by the impact, Denise Hill, 12, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Hill, 78 Clay Street, received fractures to both her legs as she attempted to cross Bayard Lane Thursday evening near the intersection of Westcott Road. She was treated and admitted to Princeton Hospital, which reports her condition as good.

The driver was Gordon I. Rozard, 41, 15 Hillside Avenue. Mr. Rozard, who police said has only one hand, was charged with failing to comply with the provisions of a conditional license issued him. Through it had rained earlier in the evening, police report the road was dry at the time of the accident.

At 8 in the morning of the same day, Eliza Kelly, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kelly, 26 Library Place, was less seriously injured when she was hit attempting to cross at the intersection of Houghton Road and Moore Street. She was treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions of her knee and elbow and released.

Anthony R. Romanowski, 18, 193 Railroad Avenue, Hopewell, told police that as he was turning, he was momentarily blinded by the sun. When he regained his vision, he said he saw the Kelly girl bouncing off the fender of car. Police made no charges.

A visitor to Princeton, Brian Letts, 9, of Sayreville, apparently was just brushed by the fender of a passing car as he crossed Vandeventer Saturday, near the intersection of Nassau Street. At the time, the road was wet from a light rain and it was turning dusk.

According to police, the driver, Mirshel Grieves, 23, 117 Washington Road, reportedly saw the boy and braked. Brian was taken to Princeton Hospital where he was examined at the insistence of Mr. Grieves. Police report the boy as saying he had not been hit.

A stop sign violation led to a three-car mishap at the intersection of Jefferson Road and Franklin Avenue. No one was seriously hurt.

Elizabeth R. Cleaver, 36, Rosedale Lane, charged with the violation, struck the front end of a car operated by Regina Herrman, 39, Opossum Road, Skillman. Mrs. Herrman was driving on Jefferson Road, a through street.

After the collision, Mrs. Cleaver's car continued on through the intersection and came to rest on the lawn of 104 Jefferson. Meanwhile, the impact had forced the Herrman car to skid sideways into a third car halted at the stop sign on Franklin, heading in the opposite direction.

The driver of the third car was Jean A. Ennis, 42, of Franklin Park. She complained of a bruised chest. Mrs. Cleaver received a finger laceration; Mrs. Herrman a bruised temple.

Later, Mrs. Cleaver told police she did not know whether she had stopped. According to the police report, however, Mrs. Ennis was quoted as saying Mrs. Cleaver had not. Both the Cleaver and Herrman cars were extensively damaged and were towed away.

Mercer Bridge Hit. In the Township, the Stony Brook bridge on Mercer Road was hit for the third time in less than two weeks.

Police report that Raymond J. Melvin Jr., 32, Burlington, N. C., lost control of his rented car because of slippery road conditions as he approached the bridge. The car crossed the center line and struck the opposite side of the bridge.

No charges were made against Mr. Melvin, who sustained a small head cut. The accident occurred 1:30 Friday morning.

ORAL VACCINE READY. Hospital Announces Program. A major campaign to provide oral polio vaccine for every resident of Princeton will be launched in December by Princeton Hospital, its Medical and Dental staff and the Mercer County Component Medical Society.

Oral polio vaccine will be available on the following Sundays from noon to 4 p.m. December 8 and 15, Type 1;

January 19 and 26, Type III and March 8 and 15, Type II. Clinics will be held at the hospital, the Chambers Street Firehouse and the Harrison Street Firehouse. Those who come will be asked for a donation, but no one will be turned away for lack of funds. Health authorities say that all three types of vaccine should be taken by everyone over six weeks of age. Even those who have had the full course of Salk vaccine should take the oral, or Sabin, vaccine. At present, physicians do not believe that booster doses of the oral vaccine will be necessary.

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman of the Township as honorary chairmen.

Dr. Archibald D. Sheeran, president of the hospital's Medical and Dental staff; George W. Conover, president of the hospital's board of trustees and John W. Kauffman, administrator of the hospital, will assist Dr. Silverman as co-chairman of the Planning Committee.

The Voter's Lament

When Election Day

Brings rain

It washes hopes

Right down the drain.

The rain came about the time the polls closed, actually thus deterring no voters but adding to the likelihood that the long autumnal drought is ended.

Thursday's skies will bring clearing weather, with the temperature expected to remain mild for the next few days. Generally fair through the weekend rounds out the forecast.

the community that in spite of growth, this is still only a middle-sized town, concerned with street lights and burglaries, leaf raking and sidewalks, stray dogs, and neighbors who don't like noise.

Committeeman John O. Green made the most important contribution to the evening when he announced that discussions were still in progress between himself and Borough Councilman Alan W. Carriek on ways to set up Borough-Township recreation machinery.

"We're in substantial agreement on organization and rate of development," reported Mr. Green, "but we still have not agreed on a satisfactory cost-sharing formula."

The Borough would like to see a formula based on school population, but Mr. Green thinks this would be unfair to the Township, which has a bigger family than the Borough. He and Mr. Carriek have also considered formulas based on rateables, population, how many people in each municipality might use recreation equipment, and so on.

Pool in Budget? Answering a letter from the Township Recreation Commission expressing its "constant hope" that money would be forthcoming for a swimming pool and the development of the rest of Community Park's south side, Mr. Green said that the pool would come before Committee at budget time.

He pointed out that the Borough's debt-ceiling limit was tighter than the Township's, and he quoted Borough Mayor Henry Patterson, who has placed public library and sewer needs ahead of recreation.

Jefferson Road-Moore Street sidewalk assessments were approved by a three-one vote after J. Alfred Seitz, 335 Jefferson, protested what he felt was an inadequate grading job and Miss Dorothy E. Whitman, 453 Jefferson, smilingly reminded Committee that she had objected before to paying for a sidewalk which had 18 squares defaced with footprints, initials and the like.

At one point, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman gave a brief dissertation on the merits of sodding as opposed to seeding and said he was sorry he had not spent more time during his six-year tenure on Committee in urging the adoption of a "sod only" policy.

Committeeman Maurice F. Healy Jr. vigorously defended both Miss Whitman and Mr. Seitz, said the Township should not condone sloppy workmanship, and voted a resounding "no" to approval of the assessment.

Mr. Green said mildly, "Let's not clutch this hair shirt too tightly," and voted "yes." Committeeman Carl C. Selvafer abstained. He lives on Jefferson Road.

No More Strays. Regrettably, the Lawrence Hospital for Animals has told the Township—and the Borough as well—that it can no longer care for strays after January 1. The Small Animal Rescue League would like a grant of land along River Road where it could build a small shelter, staffed by its own members. Mr. Healy said he thought this was the direction the Township should follow.

Lawrenceville, a member of the Italian American Sportsmen's Club, told Committee his club was concerned about the future course it should follow in the light of last spring's complaints from neighbors about noise.

"We have a membership of 238 families," Mr. Di Donato explained, "and we'd like to develop the land around our clubhouse as a play area for the kids, with a swimming pool and play equipment. But suppose the neighbors protest.
Even one or two families?
Should we go ahead, or should we sell and build somewhere else?"

The club owns about 20 acres of land extending back from Terhune Road, east of Princeton Research Park. Committeemen expressed complete sympathy with Mr. Di Donato, and suggested that the club
cultivate better public relations with its neighbors.
"After all," said Committeeman William Wilson, "you were there before they were."
"Invite them over some Sunday afternoon, and tell them what you've told us," suggested Mr. Healy.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR HUN
To Break Ground Saturday.
Construction will begin immediately on a new academic building and a dormitory at the Hun School, according to an announcement from Dr. Paul R. Chesebro, the school's headmaster. Initial clearing of the land has already begun, and the official ground-breaking exercises will be held this Saturday at 4, following the Hun-George School football game.

The two buildings represent the first phase of Hun's Fifth Year Development Program. A total of $1,600,000 is the fund's goal which, when reached, will also provide for the construction of a gymnasium, additional athletic fields, and an on-campus headmaster's residence.

MUSIC In Princeton

(The review of the Juban Bream Consort was written by Miss Ann Wulhovich, instructor in music history and literature at Westminster College and assistant to Julius Herford of the Westminster faculty. A native of Alaska, she is spending her first year in Princeton.)

"A RARE TREAT"

Bream, Concert Delights. A breath of fresh air swept through McCarley Tuesday night. With a flurry of good cheer and immediate devotion to the task, the Juban Bream Consort offered their treat of Elizabethan vocal and instrumental music.

By way of introduction, Mr. Bream gave a brief description of the instruments in his Consort, and they were a delight to the eye as well as the ear. The lute, by far the most popular instrument of the period, the "flat-back" guitars including the pandora and the small cittern, the bass viol (a member of the viola da gamba family, held between the legs but without the advantage of a floor peg as in the modern cello), the violin and the flute. Sounds produced by such a Consort do not have the richness of contemporary instruments. By comparison they are pale and thin sounding. Yet, they are capable of wonderful expressivity, refined but always fresh and vital.

Elizabethan instrumental music was, to quote Mr. Bream, primarily "for an evening's entertainment," and it was the custom to adapt a composition for whatever instrumental combination was available. These combinations were many and varied during the late Renaissance.

The program, beautifully balanced, incidentally, alternated between pieces for full consort, duets, and lute solos by John Dowland, Richard Allison, Thomas Campian and Thomas Morley to name a few, and consisted mainly of dances, fantasias and songs. Especially lovely were the Pavan and Galliard by Dowland for bass viol and lute, and the flute and violin fantasias, "The Swallow" and "The Turtle Dove" by Morley. Delightful also, were the songs of Campian, sung with great artistry by Robert Spencer, who accompanied himself on the lute.

It would be difficult to single out the excellence of any one performer, for they were all remarkable musicians. Not only were they technically superior, but each contributed a sensitivity and a musical consciousness resulting in a perfectly attuned (and tuned) ensemble. Special mention must be made, however, of Mr. Bream's virtuosity on the lute.

Rapid knuckle-breaking passages were articulated with ease and clarity, but more important, at least to this reviewer, was Mr. Bream's ability to coax such a wide range of tonal color from his instrument. For enthusiasts of this music, it was an evening to remember by those who were there; and an evening to regret by those who were not.

YULE CONCERTS SET

By Columbus Boychoir. A Christmas program will be presented by the Columbus Boychoir on Friday, December 20, at 3 and 8:30 at the McCarter Theatre.

The choir will sing Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," assisted by adult male voices and orchestral accompaniment. The program also includes Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" and traditional Christmas music.

At the children's concert in the afternoon, Donald Bryant, musical director, will discuss the oratorio and there will be a demonstration of the instruments. Special group rates are available for students and children.

The Columbus Boychoir recently completed six appearances with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, presenting the American premiere performances of Britten's "War Requiem" in Boston and New York City. The choir, now on tour, will close its fall schedule with the Princeton concerts. On December 24, the Boychoir will take part in the Bell Telephone Hour's Christmas Eve program over NBC-TV.

CORRECTION

There were two typographical errors in the first paragraph of George Lynn's review of the Princeton Symphony concert in last week's issue. The paragraph should have read:

"Tuesday night's opener for the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, Nicholas Harsanyi, conductor, offered four soloists playing three compositions accompanied by 60 musicians. Pianists Louise Strunsky and Malcolm Peyton began the evening with the Mozart Concerto for Two Pianos, K. 365, the only concerto by Mozart for two pianos and written in 1779, a not too productive year in his life."

The museum plans its formal opening the last week in November. Its shelves are rapidly filling with hundreds of items loaned by Princeton children. There will be a preview showing for interested adults.

The museum reports that the children's field trip with Miss Dorothy Compton last week has provided an interesting display of seeds and seedlings. Miss Compton was a science teacher at Nassau Street School until her retirement.

In other activities, Edward Leyden led a group around Guyot Hall on Sunday, and Prof. Lionel Robbin discussed and demonstrated the microscope with a group of junior high school age children.

Museum hours are 10 to 4 on Saturdays, and 1 to 4 on Sundays. Children are welcome to look around or enroll in museum activities.

GLASS FILAMENT WINDING FOR MISSILE CASING: Richard E. Young of Rocky Hill shows how his invention of the "Spiralloy" technique works. Glass fibers are wound like a ball of kite string, then impregnated with plastic. Result is an extremely strong casing such as those used with the Polaris A-3 missile motors. Story, this page.

SCIENCE In Princeton

(A few days ago a TOWN TOPICS staff member was one of the few reporters, and the only one from this area, privileged to witness the first operational firing from a submerged submarine of the new Polaris A-3 missile. Here is his account of the great significance of the event and of the important part many Princeton area residents played in making it possible.)

NO HIDING PLACE

From Cape Canaveral. The Navy has reamed a new hole in the clear skies 35 miles east of the Florida coast—a hole large enough and long enough to show that there is now no hiding place for would-be world despots on the face of the globe.

At 11:14 a.m. on October 26 a shining, pointed shaft rose quickly and gently out of the wind-roughed water. Once clear of the 20-foot waves, the missile's motor cut in with the thunder of 1,000 Ferraris and the weapon roared off on a 200-mile-high arc to a 2,300-mile distant target downrange, landing "well within the target area." All of this it did in about 20 minutes, or at a speed of more than 100 miles a minute.

It marked the first operational firing of the new Polaris A-3 missile from a submarine, the 8,000-ton, nuclear-powered USS Andrew Jackson, running under the ocean's surface. And, with it, the Navy extended its missile reach to every area on earth from the hidden depths of the world's seas.

With it, the United States demonstrated that it now has a deterrent with a mobility and capability second to none—the missile's 2,880 statute mile range give the Andrew Jackson, or any of the 41 like her now built or a-building, room enough to hit at Moscow from less than halfway across the North Atlantic.

Princeton and Polaris. And with it, Princeton's unique contributions to the scientific theory of optimum national defense, to the advancement of the missile program and to the development of the all-reaching A-3 missile proved to be indispensable.

First, in point of time, is Princeton Professor Oskar Morgenstern, one of the Western World's leading military and political analysts, whose book "The Question of National Defense" was published in 1959. In that year the Polaris program was in a stage of development roughly comparable to that of aviation when the Wright brothers hopefully shuffled down to the dunes at Kitty Hawk to fly their kite.

One passage from that book, says a commander in the Navy's office charged with Polaris development and production, is used as an explicit statement and constant reminder to all concerned of the program's objectives. The passage opens with: "First we must build in large numbers the types of submarines already foreseen. Then the missiles must be developed and produced."

Unlimited Deployment. "But most important for the long run," Professor Morgenstern continues, "is to accommodate the system to missiles which have the full range, so that the Polaris force can be deployed anywhere, in any ocean. Then the weapon is no longer dependent on deployment along geographical limits dictated by the present insufficient missile range."

In 1959, when Professor Morgenstern made the statement, the operational distance of the then-experimental Polaris A-1 missile was planned for only 1,380 statute miles, less than half the distance of the new A-3's 2,880-mile range. And, in 1959, no Polaris submarines had yet been commissioned.

Professor Morgenstern's advocacy of full-range missiles and unlimited deployment concludes: "When this point has been reached, the hour of perfection has come to the Polaris concept. There are hardly any other tasks in the field of weapons systems deserving a greater effort of our scientists and engineers."

The development of the system, in which two Princeton area organizations have been of greatest importance, has included two major components. The first is the fleet of 41 nuclear-powered submarines (underwater speed: "in excess of" 20 knots; potential depth: "in excess of" 400 feet; submerged patrol duration: "almost endless, at present 60 or more days"). The second is the missile (16 per submarine, capable of being fired one a minute).

RCA and Sub Communications. Radio communication with and between submerged submarines has been possible for a number of years. But the systems being used with the new Polaris fleet have been devised with special emphasis on ability to protect the locations of the submarines and to leave the advantage of concealment unimpaired.

Continual tests demonstrate that the Navy's world-wide communication system has the power and coverage necessary to exercise command of the always-submerged nuclear submarines. RCA Laboratories in Princeton are cited by the Navy as major contributors to the development of much of this part of the program.

Glass Fibers from Rocky Hill. One of the chief contributions to the Polaris missile itself has come from nearby Rocky Hill. There Richard E. Young invented the "Spiralloy" method of making glass cases which, contrary to what you might expect, are of great strength and adaptability.

Glass itself is an amazingly strong material, but it also takes special manufacturing techniques to make use of its potential strength. One method is glass-filament winding in which glass fibers are wound in a pattern resembling a ball of kite string and then impregnated with plastic.

The method, invented and developed by Mr. Young and now carried on by the Hercules Powder Co. in the Rocky Hill plant, has produced rocket motor cases which have been used in both the Polaris and Minuteman programs.

Lawrence B. Johnston, Hercules plant manager, who lives in Princeton, says "A glass casing from Rocky Hill is now somewhere on the far side of the moon from a space shot that went awry." "We don't expect to get that one back," he added.

According to Mr. Johnston and Assistant Manager Paul K. Hawk, who also lives in Princeton, the Rocky Hill plant has produced about 800 of the casings, including those first developed for use on the second-stage motor of the shorter-range Polaris A-2 missile.

The success of the glass case from Rocky Hill in the A-2 version of the extremely reliable motor designed by Hercules proved its superiority to any metal casing. As a result, one of the improvements in the advanced A-3 which was fired on October 26 was the use of glass filament-wound motor cases for both stages.

The Polaris A-3 shot on October 26 showed the immeasurable value of the new missile as a deterrent and, if the need should occur, as a retaliatory weapon. It also showed that Princeton, through Professor Morgenstern, RCA Laboratories and Hercules-Rocky Hill, had been of utmost importance in its successful development.

Question of the Week

Question: What do you think the chances are of the Princeton University football team going undefeated?

Where asked: Princeton High School's Harris Field.

Harold G. Houghton, 79 Lovers Lane, builder: I think nobody can stop them. There's no question that Princeton has the best team in the Ivy League. They have the best coach in the country and Cosmo Iacavazzi.

Joseph S. Williamson Jr., 106 E. Prospect Street, Hope-well, electrical contractor: I think they'll go all the way. They have the strongest team they've had in several years and they are playing well together as a team. I also think they have a fine coach in Colman. To me, he's another Charlie Caldwell.

Elmer J. Rodweller, 8 Chestnut Street, retired Princeton police sergeant and member of the First Aid and Rescue Unit: They'll go all the way. Spirit is 100 percent. They're a well-coached team. I've been in Princeton all my life and I've never seen a team play like this. Never. And I've been here 70 years. I'm always on the field; I never miss a game. The team is well-disciplined. The players know what to do and when to do it. I admire them. I hope and pray they'll win them all.

David Wilbur, 29 Wiggins Street, A&P employee: They'll go undefeated. The team has a lot of spirit and the will to win. The coaching is good. It's a team effort all the way. They're playing together; no one is trying to outdo the other guy. I don't think there is any doubt that they can do it the rest of the way. If they aren't ranked higher after beating Brown, then I think there is something wrong with the system. I believe Princeton should be ranked much higher nationally than they are.

Herman Richardson, 76 Leigh Avenue, employee of Princeton University: I think they'll go all the way. I definitely feel that. It's a strong team, well-coached, it's got the old team spirit. Nothing can stop them now. The offensive and defensive blocking is terrific. We'll have no trouble with Dartmouth whatsoever. We'll slaughter Harvard. The spirit and coaching more than anything else is what has done it.

Victor Fasanella, 42 Humbert Street, carpenter: A very good chance. They've got enough on the bench to replace a team as good as the one on the field at will. In other words, they've got a lot of good reserves Iacavazzi—that's anybody's game. Harvard and Dartmouth can't be overlooked, either; there's a lot of good ability in both of them. But I still think the Tiggers can go all the way. I'm sure of it.

John Donaldson, 41 Leavitt Lane, employee, Nassau Oil: I think they are very good. Certainly. This is the best team they've had since Kazmaier. With McKay and Iacavazzi in the backfield, they have a beautiful team. Overall the team has a nice line, a real good backfield—Howard is playing real good ball at end. They've been up for all their games so far and I feel every time they win it gives them that much more incentive to get out there and push. They should go all the way.

Nick Bartolino, 8 Tee-Ar Place, painter: Very good. Colman has introduced a seemingly split wing offense—a series of plays they run along with the single wing—and this has definitely been a great improvement in their attack. I think Coleman deserves a lot of credit along with the team. I don't mean to detract from the others but there seem to be a number of fine players on the defensive squad, especially Kerstetter, defensive right half. He's intercepted a couple of passes and turned them into some long runbacks. There's good harmony; they seem to be working together as a team. A lot of credit belongs to the team captain—Guedel. The boys all want to play for him the best they can.

Arthur Slovinsky, Mon- mouth Junction, cable man: I think they have a good chance. They have a strong bench and a strong team as a whole. They're not relying on one player to carry them along. They have depth which counts more and more as the season progresses. I think they'll be able to knock Harvard off.

Doug Watson, 37 Fisher Avenue, Borough patrolman: I think they have a very good chance. The blocking, the tackling, their all-round ability to produce should bring them an undefeated season. Compared to other years, they just seem to have it; the spirit, the power, the blocking, especially the downfield blocking. This year, once the runners get past the line of scrimmage the blockers are there. The Harvard game should be the game of the season, but I think Princeton will edge them out.

Walter Daniels, Belle Mead, factory supervisor: I think they're very good. The team has a lot of spirit. They work as a team better than they have in the past few years. I believe that Dartmouth will give them a battle no matter what kind of team they may have. This is sort of a grudge game between these two.

Don Briggs, 7 Greenview Avenue, painter: I think they have a good chance. They have good coaches, a good bunch of players who work well together—better than they have in some time. They haven't been beaten yet. I don't think they will have any trouble at all with Harvard or Dartmouth.

ONE GOING DOWN, ONE GOING UP: Tearing 'em down and building 'em up is a favorite sport in Princeton these days, and the latest move in the game is at 194 Nassau where this old house is being razed to make room for a three-story office building. George Sands and Associates Inc. is the builder. The new structure will be 79 by 93 feet with stores on the street floor and offices above. (Staff Photo)

These contrasts reveal a clear departure in doctrine, action, thought, and terminology from Christianity revealed in the New Testament. Actually, we have a series of contrasts between God's Way versus Man's Way.

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts" (Isaiah 55:8,9).

Lower Case "d" Inadvertent.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Two weeks ago I wrote a letter explaining why I was planning to vote Republican. Last week a letter to the Editor of Town Topics criticized my statement, the argument being that since I had failed to capitalize "democrat" in the context in which I used it, I was contemptuous of the Democratic Party and its individual members.

I wish to correct this unwarranted conclusion drawn from my inadvertence. I have the utmost respect for all persons who take the trouble to express their political views, regardless of their political persuasion. This includes my critic, Mr. Seldner.

I think one of the most admirable traits of the American people is their widespread participation in the political process. As long as we continue our individual political alertness we will remain free, well-governed, and envied by less free and less fortunate peoples.

FREDERICK ENGLISH
6 Madison Street

Begin Religion at Home.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that the public's reaction to the federal edict of non-more-religion-in-public-schools has had opportunity to level off, I feel that it is timely to reopen the issue. I propose this reopening not to renew the hurt or discomfort caused by that edict, but rather to permit a second look at religion and its part in our lives, minus panic, politics, and sensationalism.

Since the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling, many folks have felt that their right had been wronged. Some school officials and teachers went as far as to defy the high court's ruling by continuing to read the Bible or other religious publications in the classroom.

All in all, I now wonder what action has been taken by families, ministers, priests, or others who should be concerned about the religious strength of our citizenry. Can any one family raise their hands in the affirmative answer to this question?

Do you now read and discuss for your and your children's edification, the Bible or other religious writings published by your church? Can any one minister, priest, or lay-clergy step forward as having already enacted a program of such family reading and discussion at home?

Could it be that not one family or person has done so? I'd hope to find that some families and clergy are able to answer "yes" to the above questions.

Many will readily acknowledge that a one-minute reading to one of our children in class, could not hope to compare with a seven-day per week reading and discussion period of at least five minutes per day, while all the family are gathered at the supper table. Thus, for a family of three, there are 105 family-minutes of religion per week at home, versus only five minutes per week for the child alone at school. Surely no truly religious person can state that a daily exposure to religion of no more than one minute can ever begin to be adequate training for our children.

Are we too modern and scientific to strengthen our character, our society, and our nation by such discussions? Was reading the Bible, saying the meal prayer, or just saying grace, only necessary when the Indians were a threat? Is not the threat of an all-out war with Communism a greater threat, involving infinitely more people?

Don't forget, the nuclear bombs are not aimed at only frontier folks. Also don't forget, that our country is basically a Christian nation, threatened by a breed of humanity that would stifle religious life.

IVY TITLE IN VIEW

For Amazing Tigers. When a team can lose a crucial game and still own first place outright, it can truly be said to have a commanding position in a championship race. That's the bright picture at which Princeton's football team can look as it prepares for its trip to Harvard on Saturday.

For those remaining here, half a dozen radio stations will carry a play-by-play: WHWH, Princeton; WBUD, Trenton; WVNJ, Newark; WIP, Philadelphia; WABC, New York; and WPRB-FM, Princeton. Game-time is 1:30; a sellout crowd of 38,000 is a possibility and it is also likely that Palmer Stadium will be filled for the Yale game a week hence.

The accompanying standings show that Princeton can lose this weekend's meeting with once-favored Harvard and still come home in first place — a development that was about as unlikely six weeks ago as the Dodgers beating the Yankees four straight. In the uncertain world of athletics, both events have come to pass because the young men involved were the only ones who paid no attention to the experts proclaiming

QUICK LOOK AT HARVARD

THE LINE: Generally solid; strongest on defense. Center Brad Stephens the standout.

BACKFIELD: Fullback Bill Grana, sophomore halfback Wally Grant the best ball carriers. Except for Grant, overall speed lacking.

CHIEF ASSET: Experience and depth. First unit very good defensively.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of established quarterback hobbles offensively.

TYPE OF ATTACK: T with balanced line and frequent flankers repeatedly that it can't happen here.

Possibly even more astounding is that not only can Princeton eliminate Harvard from the race entirely if it wins, but could actually wrap up the 1963 Ivy title at Cambridge. For the latter blockbuster to detonate, Yale would have to lose to Penn, Dartmouth to Columbia and Cornell to Brown — all on the same afternoon. When such upsets as Penn's 7-2 triumph over Harvard occur, nothing is impossible, but Tiger fans are advised not to put more than their week's allowance on a long-shot parlay of this sort.

Harvard a Puzzle. It was, of course, Harvard's inability to defeat last-place Penn, thereby dropping a game and a half behind in a short seven-game race, that put the Tigers in the cat bird's seat. The gift safety that represented the Crimson's two points against a team that had yielded an average of five touchdowns per game to Princeton, Brown and Dartmouth must have really rankled on the long ride back to Cambridge.

Although it has lost only one of six while defeating Rutgers, Cornell and Dartmouth and tying Massachusetts and Columbia, it is Harvard's lack of offensive power that has put the Tigers in such a commanding position in the Ivy League. Against Massachusetts, Columbia and Penn, John Yoviesin's outfit has compiled a total of just five points — and none of these teams is defensively impressive.

Harvard's principal difficulty orbits around its inability to develop a take-charge quarterback. It opened the season with senior Mike Bassett, whose career had not been consistently productive but under whose direction it could point to 11 victories in 14 Ivy games.

However, the Crimson's attack spluttered with alarming frequency this fall, and at Penn last weekend, Bassett spent much of the game on the bench. Currently ranked above him is another senior, Bill Humenuk, who was credited with engineering Harvard's second-half comeback against Dartmouth.

Humenuk started against Penn, but found the going rugged as the losers spent much of the day in their own territory and bogged down woefully each time they neared the Penn goal line. Six losses of possession—three on fumbles, three more on interceptions—and six of 18 passes completed tell much of the story.

Princeton's problem, however, is that each of these inconsistent quarterbacks has been largely responsible for trimming the Tigers in the last two meetings between the teams. In 1961, Humenuk got off the bench as a sophomore and engineered a 38-yard drive that gave the Crimson a 9-7 victory when he himself scored the winning TD. Last November in Palmer Stadium, Bassett had a fine day as he piloted his team to a 20-0 tri-

In addition to having a firm hold on first place in the Ivy standings, Princeton is heavily favored by the schedule in the final third of the season.

Of the five teams which can still win the title outright, only the Tigers play two of their remaining three at home. The other four — Harvard, Cornell, Dartmouth, Yale — all must take to the road for two of their last three games.

WE Congratulate

RON BONOMO
Princeton Guard

When the 1963 football season is over, all sorts of reasons will be set forth as having played a basic part in Princeton's success. Foremost among them will have to be the vast improvement on defense in general and in linebacking particularly.

Last year, for example, the Tigers scored 27 points against Dartmouth and 34 against Cornell and still lost "Your linebacking," an opposing scout said in all frankness, "isn't as good as most of the other teams in the league."

This season, the Tigers have cut the yards gained rushing by opposing teams to less than half of what they averaged a year ago to mere 90 yards per game, compared to better than 180 in 1962, and the points posted on the scoreboard have dwindled accordingly. Earning a major share of the credit for such a performance is longtime guard and linebacker Ron Bonomo.

Third on the depth chart as a sophomore, the ruggedly built 190-lb letterman earned the starting assignment early at Blairstown this fall. His play is frequently conspicuous, unusual for a lineman because his diagnosis is so quick and his tackling sure.

Saturday's play-by-play account of the Brown game repeatedly reads, "Antifano fumbles and recovers in his backfield, tackled by Bonomo." "Neal caught in his backfield by Bonomo." "Moyer loses two around right end, tackled by Bonomo." At game's end, the ruggedly-built junior was chosen Princeton's top lineman and this week he was named to the All-East team for the second time this fall.

A resident of one of the nation's top areas for stand-out football players — Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — Bonomo is a key member of the line that gives every indication of ranking as the Ivy League's best. Said Brown Coach John McLaughry at Saturday's post-game session, "That number 64 of yours was all over the place. We never did seem to be able to knock him down."

Off Bonomo's play so far, odds are all that the Tigers' three remaining opponents will have much the same story to tell.

umph led by his own gaudy 69-yard scoring run.

Harvard Defense Good. Elmer Lampe, veteran Dartmouth coach and scout who kept book on the Canlubs before coming here each week to look at Princeton for the Indians, believes Harvard will give the Tigers considerable trouble on defense. "You will have a hard time running through the middle against them," he said Saturday in the Palmer Stadium press box. "and if you can't pass enough to loosen them up, they may beat you."

With veteran ends in Tom Stephenson and Frank Ulickas, good tackles in Jeff Pochop and Neal Curtin and a highly-respected center in Brad Stephens, Harvard should hold its own in line play. A speedy sophomore, Wally Grant, has earned a starting position as a halfback; senior Bill Grana hits well from the fullback slot, and Tom Blodeau is a defensive standout who can go both ways. In addition to its quarterback troubles, however, Harvard has not been able to replace the halfback speed provided by the graduated Hobie Armstrong and Bill Taylor.

BROWN WASN'T EASY

Despite 3-Touchdown Margin, it was no surprise that Brown gave Princeton a momentary scare Saturday when it pulled to within seven points (20-13) of the Tigers with ten minutes to go in the final period. The visitors are a markedly better team than they have been at any time in the past five years, and it was gratifying to their credit that they came close after their starting quarterback, sophomore Bob Hall, had been carried from the field early in the first half with a broken leg.

Jim Dunda, a standout as a sophomore but largely out of action this season with injuries, engineered the comeback — with the aid of nine pass receptions by end John Parry — several of them bordering on the spectacular. Two of his tosses went for touchdowns to help Parry set an Ivy career record with eight — and another full season to go.

Having taken a 13-0 lead at the half, and raising this to 20-0 at 10:02 of the third period, it was more or less natural for Princeton to let down a bit. Dunda's quick, short button-hook passes to Parry and ocpicturesque fashion, rolling 69 yards in just four plays and then 66 yards in six to make it a 34-13 final. Iacavazzi wedged for his third of the day, following a 57-yard burst around left end by Hugh MacMillan, to put the game beyond reach. Just before the game ended, Don McKay threw a 26-yard strike to Jim Rockenbach for the day's longest scoring play.

Team in Good Shape. No key player was on the injured list this week as the team began preparation for Harvard — a far cry from 1961, when loss of both Greg Riley and Hugh MacMillan resulted in the coaches' decision to send jayvee Dave Ibbeken out on the field in pre-game practice wearing MacMillan's number. McKay's chronic muscle pull was not aggravated in the Brown game and senior Pete Porietis has also returned to action to make the tailback slot four deep with sophomore Ron Landeck.

How to keep your money in two different places (AND LIVE TO REGRET IT)

Some people think it doesn't matter where you keep your savings as long as you receive a high return. They usually have their checking account at a Full Service commercial bank and their savings in some other financial institution.

People who have plans for their savings — like buying a house or car, sending the kids to college, or taking advantage of a business opportunity — know that there's one type of financial institution that can act as their financial partner in carrying out their plans. That's a Full Service commercial bank. This is true because a Full Service bank, unlike other financial institutions, can lend money for any legitimate purpose at rates generally lower than you'd find anywhere else.

To take advantage of this "financial partnership," just make us your financial headquarters for your checking and savings accounts, for all your loans. Get acquainted with at least one of the bank's officers so that you know where you stand financially right now.

When you need some extra money, borrow it from us instead of taking it out of your savings. Paying the loan back as promised will help build your credit reputation.

When you're ready for a major financial move, you'll find we can help you with advice and, chances are, with a low cost loan. No other type of financial institution can do as much for you financially.

That's why you'll be dollars ahead if you start doing business with our Full Service commercial bank now.

victory, and aware that Harvard will be thoroughly riled up because of its loss to Penn. Dick Colman gave his squad a solid vote of confidence after it had won its sixth straight. "These guys will play a good game of football at Cambridge," he said, indicating that he feels they have the poise and the ability not to crack under the mounting pressure of climactic Ivy competition.

Some of the crispness in blocking, some of the sure-fire tackling was missing against Brown — whose 276 yards in total offense was far and away the season's high against Princeton. It was, however, much to the victors' credit that they controlled the outcome at all times and scored five TD's against the best line they have met all season.

Harvard can win Saturday in Princeton defensive lapses, or on a mud-caked field in a game decided by a single break or two. On form, however, Princeton's fine execution of the fundamentals, its array of good running backs and its reserve strength give the Tigers a marked edge — very possibly ten to three touchdowns. The title-minded Princetonians are going to Cambridge with every intention of making form stand up.

THIS TO MEET HAMILTON

Little Tigers Favorites. Hamilton High School will furnish the opposition for the Princeton High School football team here Saturday in a contest scheduled to start at 2. Favorites are slim for the visitors improving on their 1-5 record.

It is unlikely that this game will be as lopsided as the Little Tigers' last week's unusual battle with Somerville PHS coach Dick Wood described the 12-12 tie as "one of the oddest games I've seen in a long while."

Commenting on the upcoming Hamilton tilt, Wood said he felt that this was the first one Princeton should be sure of winning. He added quickly that there was always the question of being upset, however.

"I could also like to see the fellows play well," he continued. "Even if you win, there is no satisfaction if you know you didn't play as well as you might have."

For Hamilton, 1963 has been an upward climb all the way. Under their new coach, Dave Bryan, the Hornets have won only one game this season, but their most recent outing, they were defeated by Ewing which PHS disposed of two weeks ago.

As an added incentive, a victory over Hamilton would up Princeton's record to 4-2-1 and guarantee it a winning season. After Hamilton, only Cherry Hill remains. At the beginning of the season, Wood, now in his second year as head coach, said he would be happy to win half. Unless Hamilton can engineer a stunning upset, Wood will have his first winning season in his pocket in a few days.

Somerville Runs Wild. That winning season seemed far away Saturday as visiting Somerville ran wild against the Little Tigers in the first half. In the first play from scrimmage, Somerville scored on a 56-yard thrust off tackle. In the second period, fullback Harrison Gause, a speed demon, escaped from a near tackle behind the line and out ran the PHS left end for a 52-yard TD romp.

Sanitized between these tallies was an 80-yard TD run by Gause and a runback of a PHS kickoff for upwards of 50 yards. Both were nullified by offside penalties. It seemed unimportant at the time because every spectator would be in agreement with Wood who said later: "From the beginning, it looked like a big win coming across from Somerville."

Statistics substantiate the paucity of the Somerville attack. In total yards gained the Pioneers racked up 224 all on the ground — to 53 for PHS. Princeton tried two passes and had both intercepted.

Despite the apparent one-sidedness of the contest, the Blue and White was only six points behind at the half. It scored in the first period on a nine-yard drive which was set up when Ed Pomianowski recovered a Somerville fumble. Paul Walstad scored from four yards out on fourth down.

With this first half as a backdrop, most of those in the stands were to feel at the end of the game that Somerville was lucky to have escaped with a tie. Wood himself reported that he was inclined to think that if the game had gone another five minutes his team would have scored.

There was no question that PHS dominated play in the second half and was the stronger team at the final whistle. The Blue and White took charge at once. On the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff, Somerville fumbled on its own 30, Dave Van Ness recovering.

three carries, Walstad moved the ball to the ten. Alken plunged for five and then Walstad carried it in for his fifth touchdown of the season.

No other PHS player has scored more than once. For the second time, Jeff Lowe's attempted conversion was no good.

PHS almost won it in the final period when Walstad broke free at his own 40-yard line. Later, after the game, Walstad told Wood that as he hit the line, he could see there was no hole so he lowered his head to get as much yardage as he could.

But Walstad didn't run into anything. Once free, he tried unsuccessfully to regain his balance.

With approximately four minutes left, PHS tried to run from a fake kick formation in its own territory with seven yards to go. It fell far short. To some, it was a questionable play.

Wood later explained that Somerville had been playing Princeton tight and he called for a pass off the punt formation. Through some misunderstanding, Case tried to run the ball instead. The rest of the team, expecting Case to pass, did not provide any blocking and Case was a dead duck. Had it gone, it would have been a great play, said Wood.

PCD ELEVEN WINS TWO

Beat Short Hills. Hun. Princeton Country Day School beat the Hun School freshmen last week on a third quarter touchdown by Bill Kehoe. The victory extended the school's winning streak to four games.

Kehoe scored the winning touchdown in the 6-0 victory following a fumble recovery by Jeff Delano on Hun's 15-yard line. Earlier in the week, PCD defeated Short Hills Country Day, 13-7, in a home contest.

Mike Simko provided the decisive touchdown on a one-yard plunge with seconds remaining in the game. Simko also picked up the first TD and Kehoe added the conversion in the fourth period.

HUN WINS AGAIN

Pingry Falls at Last. It may have taken some years but Hun School defeated Pingry for the first time here Saturday, 16-6, before a sparse crowd. The victory was Hun's second in a row.

Chances are the Hun squad will make it three straight. On Saturday at 2, George School comes to Princeton for a Penn. Jersey League contest, Hun's final League game of the season. The contest will be played before an alumni and parents' day crowd.

So far this season, George School has won only one of five outings. According to Hun coach Hawley Waterman, if his squad plays the brand of football it has shown it can and if it guards against complacency, it should defeat the visitors. A win would bring the Red and Black even at 3-3-1.

With Chuck Sellon scoring both touchdowns, Hun finally caught up to a school it had never defeated. The Red and Black was jubilant. Two years ago, when Hun swept to a 7-1 record for its best season since 1938, the one blot was a shut out by Pingry.

As it was, Hun triumphed mainly because it was able to force two Pingry mistakes. In the first half, Lonnie Kaplan knocked the ball loose and recovered a Pingry fumble. Seven plays later, Sellon scored from the two. Fullback Scott Page plunged over for a two-point conversion.

After Pingry had countered with its lone tally, Hun retaliated when Sellon intercepted a Pingry pass and returned it the distance. The hard-charging Hun line hit the Pingry quarterback's arm, causing the pass to wobble and make the interception possible.

Olympic Giving Urged

Irwin W. Weiss, assistant track coach at Princeton University, has been named head of the New Jersey drive to raise funds for United States teams participating in the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo and Innsbruck, Austria.

Weiss urged that Princeton area residents contribute to the fund raising effort. The support of New Jersey citizens, he said, "not only financially but in the development of championship athletes is a tremendous boost for the U.S. Olympic Committee preparations."

The total cost of the U.S. Olympic program has been estimated at $2,100,000, all of which must be financed by contributions. Donations may be sent to Weiss at 248 Moore Street in Princeton.

only remaining game on the schedule, Lawrenceville's football team has a 4-2 record. The Larries were debited with their second loss at Wallingford, Conn., Saturday Choate handed them a 12-6 defeat.

Going into the contest with a three-game winning streak, the Red and Black went ahead early in the second period on a four-yard run by Captain Will Dickey, capping a 50-yard march. But the score at halftime was 6-6 as Choate quickly came back to tie up the contest as Dan Walker ran back a quick kick from his own 37 for a touchdown.

The decisive TD came midway through the third quarter. Tailback Walker threw a screen pass for 49 yards to Dick Giardi to break the tie.

A defensive battle much of the game, the contest of single-wing attacks was highlighted by the play of both lines. Lawrenceville picked up 10 first downs to its opponent's three. Choate is now 5-1 on the season.

BOWLING NOTES

Johnson Electric Sets Mark. Frank Delneso, Jack Lucey and Joe Baldino combined for a 677 game and a season high in the Three-Man Classic League last week. The game helped Johnson Electric, with 14 points, remain in first place, by two points over Colonial Restaurant.

Delneso had the single-game high, 256, and the top series, 612. Lucey had a 240 score and other top games were rolled by Bill Dumble, 233; Bruce Hornstein, 224; Val Ranallo, 222; Larry Golden, 215 and 209; John Grey and Joe Trani, 214 each; Bill Cavanaugh, 207; and Baldino, 204.

In the Tri-County Firemen's League, Rocky Hill swept three games and moved into first place with 35 points, one ahead of Dutch Neck and three in front of Kingston. But the highlight of league play was Stan Tantum's first 600-plus series.

Tantum had games of 176, 211 and 216. Iggy McHugh had the top set of games of 205, 203 and 204 for a total of 612. Bob Beyers with a 202 and Seitch Donald with 201 accounted for the only other scores of 200 or better.

Nassau Shoe Repair retained its 10-point edge in the Business Women's League with a total of 32 points. Jefferson Plumbing and Claridge Wine and Liquor are tied for second place. Marie Wiley had the single-game high, 177, one pin more than Lillian Burrough. Emma Lohouse and Jean McDowell each rolled 166.

In "B" League action, Kase Kleeners held its two-point lead with a total of 36 points. Both Kase and Key Shop, in second place, recorded three-game sweeps.

New Jersey is almost an island. It has water on three sides... the Hudson River and the Atlantic Ocean on the east, Delaware Bay and River on the south and west. In fact, there are 437 miles of sea-coast, inlet or river bank. To New Jersey citizens this means deepwater ports for commerce and industry, sheltered inlets to accommodate private craft, numerous marinas, fishing, swimming and beautiful scenic views. The waterways of New Jersey are an important part of the state's economy and give substance to its claim of being a major "Gateway to the World".

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

We talked further about ancient languages with our friend whose hobby is the study of this fascinating subject and he impressed us with more facts revealed by twentieth century explorations and translations. The Babylonians chiseled into stone or pressed into clay frequently as many as six lines to the inch, often on tablets little more than an inch square. The resulting writing often was not readable without a magnifying glass. Regardless of the incompleteness, 20th century excavations and translations have now given a better and more authentic knowledge (in certain aspects) of early Assyria and Babylonia than knowledge of ancient Greece and Rome. A tablet discovered in 1929 during the French excavations in north Syria has proven to be a complete consonantal alphabet, which is presumed to have been in use about 1300 B.C. Although this proves early communication between some people by a simplified alphabet, other evidence points to most people continuing for centuries to use the difficult ideograms. In our business, all the way from the transactions involved in the purchase of a car, on down to the factors in its maintenance, we make it easy and economical for you. Come out now, and see outstanding values! Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

HERE'S TO NASSAU

In Summer Construction. In last week's issue of TOWN TOPICS, the story based on the business index for the summer quarter inadvertently omitted the start of construction on Palmer Square's new office building now going up at 70 Nassau, the corner of Nassau and Palmer Square.

Figures pertinent to the new structure were, however, included in the number of building permits issued in the Borough and the value of permits issued, Palmer Square, Inc. took out a demolition permit of $3,800 in July and a building permit for $1,196,200 structure in August.

The Solution's at Hand

Harvard replaced Princeton this week as the top defensive team in the Ivy League, averaging 195.5 yards allowed after four games to 202.3 for the Tigers. Tide Orange and Black can, however, rectify this situation handily if its offense clicks against the Crimson on Saturday.

Princeton remains far in front as the team with the best offensive record. Dick Colman's operatives have run and passed for an average of 358.5 yards a game, compared to second-place Yale's 264.5.

Columbia's Archie Roberts and Cornell's Gary Wood are virtually neck-and-neck for individual offense honors with respective totals of 695 and 660. Princeton's Hugh MacMillan and Cosmo Iacavazzi trail Wood as the rushing leader by 33 and 56 yards, the three having respective totals of 397, 364 and 341.

"MR. BLUES" TO SING

At Elks Charity Dance. The sixth annual Charity Dance of Witherspoon Elks, Lodge 178, will be held at 9:30 Saturday in the auditorium of Miss Fine's School, Bayard Lane. Frederick B. Goldsborough is chairman.

Eddie Ellis and his Musical Notes will supply the music, as they did last year. The popular "Mr. Blues" is the featured vocalist.

Assisting the chairman are Lankford Bolling, co-chairman; Walter Rozier, exalted ruler; Isadore Ware, financial secretary; and Archie Burrell, treasurer. Tickets are $2 in advance or $2.25 at the door.

DINNER AND BAZAAR SET

The dinner will be served family style, with home-baked pies for dessert. Mrs. Joseph Sabatella is chairman. Tickets are $2.50 for adults; $1.25 for children age 12 and under.

The bazaar, directed by Mrs. Ralph Thompson and Mrs. Arthur Carroll, will feature handmade items and recordings as well as white elephant and parcel post booths.

SNCC TO SHOW FILM

At Sunday Meeting. The Princeton Friends of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) will hold an open meeting in McCosh Hall Sunday.

A field representative working for civil rights in the South will speak and a film entitled "We Will Not Turn Back" will be shown. The program will begin at 7:30 and public is invited to attend without charge.

The area branch of the organization has been working to raise funds for members in the South and to eliminate alleged discrimination in Princeton. Jay Lockard is chairman of the group's executive committee.

UNITS READY TO GO

For League of Women Voters. National program planning will be the theme of November Unit meetings for the Princeton League of Women Voters. The schedule follows: West Windsor Unit, next Tuesday, 8:15, home of Mrs. Marvin R. Reed, Alexander Road, Princeton Tuesday Evening Unit, 8:15, home of Mrs. A. James Fenton Jr., 272 Hamilton Avenue, Princeton Daytime Unit, next Wednesday, 10 a.m., home of Mrs. Walter D. lake, 55 Deeppath, Riverside Unit, next Wednesday, 8:15 p.m., home of Mrs. Samuel Treiman, 60 McCosh Circle.

NEWCOMERS TO MEET

For Music Talk. The Newcomers Club of the YWCA will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday at 12:30 in the Y multipurpose room.

Dr. Donald S. McCoy, an associate with RCA Laboratories in Princeton, will talk on "Music in the Laboratory." Dr. McCoy will demonstrate how musical sounds can be artificially reconstructed to produce new and unusual musical effects.

All members and newcomers to Princeton are invited to attend. A nursery will be provided for pre-school children.

TO BENEFIT BLIND

With Bridge Party. The Delta Gamma alumnae chapter of Princeton-Trenton-Delaware Valley will hold a bridge party Monday at 8:15 at the home of Mrs. Frank Birch, 28 Quaker Road.

Proceeds from the benefit will be donated to aid in the organization's national project of sight conservation and aid to the blind. Reservations for the party may be made by contacting Mrs. Alexander P. Robinson at AX 7-2082, or Mrs. Bruce Taylor at HY 3-4562.

ORPHAN'S HOME AIDED

Troop 98 Takes Part. For its first service project of the year, the Cadette Girl Scout Troop 98 made decorated containers which were placed in the Community Park School to collect Trick or Treat money. The money was then donated to St. Michael's Orphan's Home in Hopewell and to the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman.

The project was done to serve as a pilot for other troops and schools in the area. Leaders of Troop 98 are Mrs. David Loye and Mrs. Fred Bowers.

the year underway Saturday, November 23, against Westwood at the Princeton pool.

First place winners for the girls team were Joanne Swartz, Cheryl Larson, Pamela Sorg, Marilyn Pine and Nancy Burroughs. The team is one of 12 competing in the New Jersey YMCA Girls Swim League. They are in the "A" Division in the league.

The boys league is composed of 28 teams divided into 4 divisions. Princeton's representatives are in the "M" division, the second-ranking group.

The girls will next meet Ridgewood on Sunday, November 16, at Princeton. Later in the year, the swimmers will compete in AAU meets. The swim season continues through Easter.

Mailbox

It doesn't take a year of discussion in the Young Couples Club, the C.Y.O., or clergy conference, to initiate this yes-to-death good thing, the family daily religious period, nor should we have to wait for leadership from our Bishops.

So, let's see how many families will make the daily reading and discussion of the Bible, etc., a part of their lives between now and Christmas (not Xmas). Also, let's wait to learn how many church groups will encourage their people to do this at home, and possibly help by providing an outline of easy to understand passages.

For the vast majority of us, the beginning must be slow. I'm not ashamed to admit or suggest that it could be at the children's level for all of us.

I'm sure that as this new appreciation for religion is shaped at the family level, church participation will improve. There will finally be the realization that the school system or government should not be held responsible for what parents and clergy must do while here on earth.

DON'T HIBERNATE THIS WINTER

So, summer's over. And you can't swim at the on-property pool. So what? There's still plenty of fun ahead without leaving home—at Princeton Windsor Apartments. You can hit elusive golf balls at the 18-hole course (it opens next spring... and will be right next door). Or knock down pins at the bowling center (it's next door)... Or see a first run movie (it's next door, too)! Or keep from falling down at the ice rink. (You guessed it; it's right next door, too.) Or you can smash tennis balls on the clay courts... socialize at the year-round clubhouse, ideal for informal entertainment. (You're wrong! They're not next door; they're right on the property... and "on the house.")

When you get tired of exercising, you can relax in an apartment that's huge, wide and handsomely equipped. It's complete with wall-wide closets, terrace, central air conditioning, dishwasher, two parking spaces.

PEGBOARD... the housewife's answer to hanging things handily. Use it in the kitchen - painted a bright complementary color and hang cooking utensils, pots and pans or towels on it... in the hall or utility room for children's wet winter clothes or muddy summer ones... Dad will love it in the garage to keep all his tools in order... Junior and Sis will want a complete wall in their rooms for pennants, pictures, planes and other hobbies. Every room in the house plus garage can use PEGBOARD. The Building Center can supply all sizes - pick from many kinds of pegboard hooks. For instance a 2' x 4' pre-cut PEGBOARD with a PEGBOARD KIT for only $3.95 complete. Try it once and you'll say "Love the Pegboard" too!

WE NOMINATE

Lugene Paul Wigner, a near-legendary Princeton figure for over three decades and once described by an admiring associate as a "standing embodiment to the Nobel Selection Committee," who at the crack of dawn Tuesday morning—to the delight of a proud community and hosts of scientists around the world—brought to Princeton the Nobel Prize for Physics. A fortnight away from his 61st birthday, the outspoken Wigner, a Princetonian since 1930, was cited by the Royal Swedish Academy for Science for "having given substance as long as 30 years ago to the present-day picture of the innermost part of the atom."

In the same way another Princeton resident, Edward Calvin Kendall, shared with others the Nobel Prize for Medicine and Physiology in 1950, Wigner was jointly honored with two other eminent scientists. However, it was Wigner, the recipient of half of the over-all cash award of $51,150 and answering questions with a whack of a European accent, who on Tuesday caught the eyes and ears of the Fourth Estate as — en route to Princeton from the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee—he was interviewed in both Washington and Newark. Almost in wonder, a veteran, hard-eyed observer exclaimed: "An incredibly modest human being!"

It was in the fall of 1952, a decade almost to the day after Wigner and a handful of scientists in a converted squash court on the University of Chicago campus lighted the first atomic fire on earth, that Wigner underscored the role of the scientist. "Before the war," he said, "I was an obscure professor who taught classes and wrote articles. I never thought a reporter would come from New York to talk with me. But now? I no longer can talk nonsense and have it go unnoticed; it could cause some serious consequences for better or worse, people pay attention to what I say. It is a heavy responsibility."

In that same interview, with the United States plunging deeper and deeper into the "Cold War," the Hungarian-born Wigner, a naturalized American citizen since 1937 and one of those who suggested to the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt the possibility of developing the atomic bomb, recalled the soul-searching he and his fellow scientists experienced before, during and after the Chicago experiment. It remains his conviction that "if we hadn't perfected the bomb, another nation would have. We believed," he stated, "that in our hands it would force an effective United Nations—a way to permanent world peace."

With the receipt of the Nobel Prize, Wigner (and he would be the very last to admit it) has few words "left to conquer." A dedicated consultant to a grateful government in matters scientific, he carried off the Franklin Medal of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia in 1930. Eight years later he received the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award. In 1960 it was The Ford Foundation's Atoms for Peace Award and the following spring the Max Planck Medal of the German Physical Society for trailblazing contributions in theoretical physics.

For his achievements as a scientist of wonderfully humane insights "who resides in his philosophy," for interactions of science and human aspirations, for constantly seeking to advance the frontiers of knowledge while helping create the scientists of tomorrow, for his abiding concern for the well-being of the individual, he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as
